The Traditional Bruin

The Class of 1929 poses at their Senior Sneak Day in Lake Oswego. Bruin rode to the sneak on the hood of a car.

The George Fox College change from "Quakers" and the fox to "Bruins" and the bear is based upon a tradition begun in 1891 when George Fox College was Pacific Academy.

A live bear, Bruin, was captured by a student on a hunting trip. He was kept as a pet by professor George Hartley until he began to wander from his pen and damage property.

A local meat market owner suggested that the market take care of the edible portions of Bruin and professor Hartley could have the skin for a rug.

The plan was adopted in 1891 with the change that the skin be mounted and preserved in the school's museum.

But Bruin underwent some changes to the worse. As George Fox grew from Pacific Academy to Pacific College to George Fox College, moths were diminishing the bear's gentleman charm.

In fact, Bruin was ordered burned and was only saved because his metal mounting structure would not fit the furnace.

Bruin stayed in a corner of the furnace room until he became the center of "flashes" similar to those at George Fox today.

The Pacific College Class in the mid-thirties with Bruin who was kept in a can for protection since he was then nearly forty years old.

Sophomore Steve Durkoop has control of B.J. while freshman Robbie Armstrong goes out on a limb to try and steal the bear.

Junior Doug Flaming has a firm grip on B.J. as does Jim Hayes as does Eb Buck as does . . .

Poor B.J. ! Is there no end to this ?

Dedicated To Barry Hubbell

For the past five years Barry Hubbell has served as the Director of College Relations at George Fox College.

Mr. Hubbell was editor of the L'Ami in 1963 and graduated from GFC in 1964.

Currently his job at the college includes advising both the Crescent newspaper and L'Ami yearbook staffs and teaching journalism, as well as putting out the school's "Life" magazine.

The writing and editing of most of the school's outgoing information such as music programs, are constant duties.

But, in addition to these duties, Mr. Hubbell sees that college news reaches the newspapers and other mass media. This ranges from reporting student enrollment, the Bruin Basketball team's trip to Nationals and important engagements of the college president.

It is because of his dedication to student publications and the college that we, the 1973 L'Ami staff, dedicate our yearbook to Barry Hubbell.

Memorial

Allen Hadley, director of admissions, died Monday morning, October 30, 1972. Mr. Hadley was a 1937 alumnus of George Fox College.

At the time of joining the GFC staff in July 1968, he resigned from the college's Board of Trustees, having served 23 years. As director of admissions Hadley was responsible for bringing many of the school's 430 students to campus.

In 1964 the L'Ami was dedicated to Mr. Hadley "for his genuine interest in young people and his consistent Christian example..."

Arthur Winters was a 1926 GFC graduate who went home to be with the Lord on March 26, 1973.

He became business manager for GFC in 1955 after teaching in different parts of the country.

According to Maurice Chandler, college director of development, Arthur Winters many times contributed to the college in excess of his wages. Gifts to the college from him and his wife have included some real estate, annuities, annual gifts to the general fund, and half the cost of remodeling a major campus building.

Taylor averaged 8.7 points a game for the season and pulled down an average of 5.7 rebounds a game.

Ibarra, an honors student, totaled 1,112 points in three years of NAIA competition. His totals are the best for three seasons while '72 graduate Gordy Loewen leads for four seasons of play.

Rob Wunder, who's last second heroics earned the Bruins their first-ever national tournament appearance in basketball, received the Most Valuable Player Award.

Wunder hit a five-foot jump shot inside the key with seven seconds left to send the Bruins to Kansas City as champions of NAIA District 2.

Playing at forward, Wunder led the Bruins in rebounding, totaling 278. He was second in scoring totaling 424, 13.7 points per game.

The Most Improved Award went to sophomore Del Dittus. He saw minimal playing time at the forward position but did impress his teammates when he was in to earn their recognition.

Eddie Fields was selected as the team's Most Inspirational Player for the second year in a row. Fields led the Bruins in assists, also for the second consecutive year, totaling 125 to place him among the tops in the Northwest.

Selected as the winner of the "Mr. Defense" award was guard Ken Greenman, the man Coach Lorin Miller called on to do the job on the opposition's hot shooter.

Ankeny is also a valuable member of the track team. He currently holds school records in the six mile at 30:15.3, the three mile at 14:19.2 and the District 2 marathon title with a clocking of 2:25.19. Ankeny is holder of the District 2 title in the six mile as well.

At nationals in cross country Ankeny finished 17th just missing All-American honors by two places. He finished 8th in the marathon last spring at the national meet.

Ankeny was voted "Athlete of the Year" for all sports by NAIA District 2 last spring.

Mark Halland was named the Most Valuable for track. He holds two GFC school records and shares two others.

Halland holds the GFC triple jump record of 48-5 and the high jump mark of 6-4 1/2. His triple jump was good for fifth place in the NAIA nationals two years ago.

In this years district meet Halland placed second in the triple jump behind teammate Randy Winston and in the long jump.

Halland is also a member of the GFC 440 and mile relay teams that own school bests of 43.6 and 3:27.7 respectively.

The Most Inspirational nod went to freshman Rod Brown. He competed in the shot, discus and hammer throw events.

Honorary team captain went to Randy Winston. Winston is also a member of the two relay school record, and was district champion in the triple jump with a 46-8 1/2.

Participation termed amazingly high earned George Fox College an award for having the highest percentage of blood donors of any college in Western Oregon and Southwest Washington.

The college received the award June 8, 1973, in Portland from the Pacific Northwest Red Cross Blood Program. In three visits of a bloodmobile on the Newberg campus during the school year 35.44 per cent of all students donated blood.

The donation record was termed "amazingly high," "unquestionably the best," and "outstanding" by Paul Stvebe, Red Cross Administrator.

Ten Miles To Jericho is the story of the good Samaritan. The drama begins where the Biblical account stops.

The wounded man who was assisted by the Samaritan is regaining his strength at an inn on the road to Jericho. Two travelers, a priest and a Levite, stop at the inn and begin talking with the injured man.

Conversation is interrupted when the wounded man realizes that these were the two men who passed him by on the road.
